

Religious Chronology Summary

by John P. Pratt

updated 8 Dec 2014

Dates of religious events on our modern (Gregorian) calendar, as well as on seven of the holy calendars currently known: Sacred Round (SR), Venus (V), Mercury (M), Perpetual Hebrew (H), Enoch (E), Uniform Enoch (UE or UE₂), and Priest (P). Gregorian years before Christ may be shown either in the usual BC notation (by default) or in astronomical notation (zero and negative numbers) by clicking the buttons above the table. The negative notation makes it easy to calculate intervals between years before and after Christ by simply subtracting. They differ from years BC (as used by historians and in my articles) by one year: 1 BC is the year 0, 2 BC is the year -1, etc.

If the timing is known to quarter-day accuracy, then it is indicated as follows: "am*" means midnight to 6 am local time, "am" means 6 am to noon, "pm" means noon to 6 pm, and "pm*" means 6 pm to midnight. (The star * means when the stars are shining.) Minor holy days are in italics, major holy days are also in bold. Days with additional significance are underlined also, such as when someone is born on the day which symbolizes birth on that calendar. Event abbreviations include c. for conceived, b. for born, o. for ordained to the patriarchal priesthood, d. for died, and r. for resurrected. "Day Num." refers to the Julian Day Number, a continuous day count from -4712 (4713 BC), useful for calculating intervals in days.

References refer to my article numbers as described in "Numbered Chronology Articles." If the day shown differs from that given in the ref., it should be the result of updated versions of the calendars. The ~ sign under "Remarks" means "on the same day as," with the implied sacred calendars being abbreviated in parentheses: (H) Perpetual Hebrew, (UH or UH₂) Uniform Hebrew, (J) Jubilee, (UJ) Uniform Jubilee, (UV) Uniform Venus, (UM) Uniform Mercury, (Ma) Mars, and (UMa) Uniform Mars. When an exact day is given in scripture or elsewhere it is shown in bold red, with the reference in Remarks (displayed by hovering over it).
